Master of Financial Economics (MFE)

The MFE program is a world-class limited-enrollment professional program offered by the University of Toronto's Department of Economics in collaboration with the Rotman School of Management. It provides a comprehensive understanding of financial theory and economics. Students are equipped with the knowledge and tools required to build successful careers in finance through both classroom learning and internship experiences in the financial services sector. The MFE program has a strong track record of placing students in internships and full-time positions, preparing them for success in the financial industry.

Master of Arts in Economics

The MA in Economics program is recognized globally as one of the best one-year graduate economics programs. Compared to the MFE, the MA offers broader research-focused training beyond Finance, including in economic data analysis, macroeconomic and public policy, industrial organization, international trade, labour, health, and development. Our faculty members are among the world's leading experts in their fields, providing high-quality learning experience with exposure to cutting-edge research. Due to the size and diversity of the Department, students can readily specialize in virtually any area of interest in Economics. Graduates of the MA program attain admission to top PhD programs, or employment in professional positions in public service or the private sector.

All students from Queen's University are invited to a Virtual Open House on November 15 2023 at 7pm ET by registering at the following link:
